THEATER.-The play of Pauline, or the Assassin of the Chaicau, was performed last night for Mrs. Waller's benefit, to a large and fashionable audience. We have before spoken of this play as one of the best of the Freuch sensation plays, and we can now add that, with such artists as Mr. and Jirs. Waller, in the parts of Heuri and Pauline, it would become one of the most popular dramas of the French school .acting of Mrs. Waller as Pauline. [Reported Expressly for the Louisville Courier.] POLICE COURT.

GEORGE W. JOHNSTON, JUDGE.

FRIDAY, April 8, 1860.

FIGURE W. JUSTICE—A. W. Klipatrick, alias David Bird, was brought before the court, charged with killing a man named James Bandy, in Danville, Illinois, about six months ago.

John Barker testilied to knowing Kilpatrick in Danville, Illinois, that he left Danville before Bandy was killed, and heard that Kilpatrick had killed him; that shortly afer the killing of Bandy he saw Kilpatrick in New Orleans. The case was half over until Monday.

Warrant for Assulla—Michael MeMckin was falt over until Monday.

Warmant for Assault.—Michael McMckin was in arrest on a warrant for assault sued out by Sunuel H. Travis. Mr. Travis was going up Market street, und McMckin's dog barked at him, and he caught the dog, when McMckin and his wife came out of the house, and the woman strate him in the beat with a falter her woman strate him in the beat with a falter her. ack him in the head with a sledge hammer Dr. Price, who sawthe whole difficulty, stated that Farris came along and jecked up a little dog, belonging to Mr. McMekin's grand child, which they all begged him to let the dog go, which he refused to do, and Mrs. McMekin hit bim with a board. The warrant was dismissed. The COTEM STEALING CASE.—John Koeulg, forstealing a copper kettle from Ferdinand Huun, was held in $100 to unswer petit larceny.

John Harmon, for stealing a copper kettle from Mr. Weynamu was held in $100 to be of good heiavior one year. ood hehavior one year. Anothen Case of Copper Stealing.—John nunders was arraigned, charged with stealing a opper kettle from Isabelic McMullen. He was A SUMMONS.—A summons against A. P. Har ris, to show cause why James Langley, a child in his castody, shall not be bound out. A wit-ness stated that Mr. Harris had unmercifully beaten and badly clothed the child. Another witness stated that she saw narks of violence on the child. The case was continued. Lovett, Joseph Schuer, B. Vooschulte, L. Lan-mann, Israel Blitz, Samuel Johnson, J. Forres-ter, and Hugh Saith took the final oath, and were adultted as citlzens of the United States.

A Good Swill — Narrow Escape from Drowning.—Last evening a young man residing in South Memphis, whose name we could not learn, attempted to cross from this to the Arkansas side of the river in a skill. After proceeding about half the distance, the violence of the wind caused his frail bark to upset, and he was precipitated into the water. His friends on this side witnessed his unwailing efforts to right the skill, and two of them inducintely proceeded to his rellef. They cast loose mother skitd, but had proceeded only a little way when they, too, were overturned, and regained the shore with difficulty. The young man seeing the hopelessness of the efforts put forth to save him, abandoned the skill, and boldly struck out for land. By this time a large crowd had gathered on the hluff, and no craft being at hand that could be sent for the unlucky requester, his cilorts to reach the shore were witnessed with intense interest. The wind was pretty still, to use a mantled phrase, and as the white-capped waves would swell up and conceal the struggling man from view, it was though that he had given up in despair—but, ever and anon, he would rise to the surface, as it were, and strike out ugain, taking a diagonal corrse for the Teunessee shore. For an hour and three quarters he breasted the waves, stopping at intervals to "fleat" and rest himself, and finally reached the land almost exhausted, two miles below the place he had started from. The short that went up ut his escape might have been heard at that distance, and the young unan, after resting awhide, walked to his home, which he reached about dark. He had accomplished u feat which almost put to shanne Byron's exploit in swimming the Hellespont.—Memphis Avalanche.

Another Claimant for McDonogh Property.—There is considerable excitement among the city officials just now, on account of a suit which was entered day before yesterday in the Second Histrict Court by Moses Fox, a nephew of the late John McDonogh, claiming $30,000 by virtue of an alleged codicil to the will of McDonogh, which is dated November 1st, 1849, and provides, lin a few words, that the trustees of his properly shall pay to Moses Fox, eight years after his death, the sum of $300,000, signed John McDonogh. Those who have examined the signature prononnee it either genuine or an admirable counterpart. The most singular part of this claim is that it has not been presented before. The claimant sues the citles of New Orleans and Baltimore jointly.

It was runnored yesterday that there was still another claim of a like character for $20,000, which is soon to be brought forward.

The city will have to look to her sang little possessions, which have caused so much trouble

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

ince of the Louisville Courier ] he Connecticut Electron-Presidential Prospects-The Candidates—Guthrie the Coming Man—His Pros pects Brightening—The Delegates to Charleston not to be controlled by Political Schemera—Rhode Island Election, i.c., &c.

WASHINGTON, April 4, 1900. Editors Louisville Courier: The result of the election in Connectient is more favorable than was expected from the dispatches received yes-500, showing a Democratic galn of upwards of 7,000 on the vote of 1856. With a candidate acceptable 10 the Democracy, there is no good reason why the State may not be carried at the November election, The Spring elections, however, pretty clearly icate that the Black Republicans will carry in the Presidential election this Fall the same States

they carried in 186. The Democracy may cer-taluly calculate on receiving the 120 electoral votes of the Southern States, as well as the votes of Oregon and California, swelling their total role to 127. With this certain and undoubted ength they will enter the Presidential coutes). To elect their cambidates they must carry l'ennvlvania, Indiana, New Jersey and Illinois; or, f they should love Illinois, and carry Connectlont wide; in the last turn Fanny actually ran away from her followers, and won the heat, the casiest in the world, in the not very astonishing time of 5:43%.

**Scood Heat.**—The backers of Fanny now offered big odds on her against the field, and no takers. There was some miscellaneous betting among the friends of the other three. The best tap brought the horses up, all in excellent trim, and the drum tap sent them off with a lair start, and at a cracking pace. Fanny, Jest, and Godiva went off abreast, Variété not being more than half a length behind. The first turn showed Fanny leading again, with Jest second and Variété third and Godiva last. They went shis way in a short string through the back stretch, and crowded together in the last turn; Fanny still leading, as she had all the time done and still intended to do, and Jest still her most devoted follower. Dashing into the second mile, Godiva and Variété were joint partners in hringing up the rear. At the quarter pole Godiva was hindmost. All were close together in the back stretch, where Godiva were turn and gave Variété another brash. They kept close all the way around, and Godiva was third to enter the third mile. In the first turn of this mile the crowd began to open ont. In the back stretchall made a final and desperate effort to catch the cospicitish Fanny; but it was "love's labor lost." Varieté and Godiva, however, swapped places, and both passed Jest—the position now being Fanny first, lodiva second, Variété third, and Jest last.—These positions were not changed to the end of the mile; all making a desperate run of it down the home stretch, Fanny coming in handsomely ahead, and Uncle Jest barely saving his distance.

The friends of the favoric this time had the laugh, and got some of their money back. Fanny's beautiful running, it keeping the lead throughout the entire rice, was amatter of much cuttanisam among her friends; so also were the friends of Godiva and Variété properly delighted and noisy over the defeat of Uncle Jest, who had been second eut, which is by no means improbable, they condidate. One thing Is very evident, and that , that Penusylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, and Connectient, are to be the battle-ground of the approaching conflict. Without them Democracy will be defeated. In the selection of a candidate for the Presidency the Charleston Convention should, and donbiless will, bear in mind this fact, and nominate the man who, whilst a ognized orthodox Democrat, at the same tline can command, beyond all doubt, the vote of the donhtful States. Now, beyond all nestion, Mr. GCTHRIE is decidedly the strongest man in both New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and many of the prominent Democrats of these States declare it to be their firm helief that he is the only Democrat who can carry these States. If this be so, then the nomination of Mr. GUTHRIE should no longer be a matter of doubt; but he should at once he selected as the standard-bearer of the National Democracy. The supporters of Mr. GCTHRIE are not the noisy politicians; but he movement in his favor is caused by the strong under-current of popular feeling, which is daily gathering in strength, and which seems to point unerringly to him as the man for the times. The chances of Mr. GUTHRIE for the nomination, at his time, I regard as more favorable than those of any gentleman whose name has been men-I need not assure you that there are continual ictnations in the prospects of candidates; that to-day one is in the ascendant, and to-morrow quently modified by the changes of the succeeding day. a small portion of whom are delegates to the Charleston Convention. It seems to be the settled determination of the delegales to avoid the corrupting influences of the Federal Capital, and selves, and not be controlled in their action by the politicians or the "outside pressure." Of one thing you may rest assured, professional politiciaus will not control the Convention. The delegates will go to Charleston to nominate the best and most acceptable man, and not the special favorlle of any particular clique or faction of the

COURTSHIP IN EGYPT.—Last antumn, a young lady left Dundee for Alexandria, toyleit relations residing in that city. As the passengers were landing at Alexandria, a richly attired Turk adresiding in that city. As the passengers were landing at Alexandria, a richly attired Turk advanced to look at the arrivals, and seemed instantly to be struck with the charms of the damisel from "bonny Dundee." He approached her and suddenly flung a string of figs about her neck. The captain of the slip came forward, and informed his bewildered passenger that the Turk's gift was a token of admiration and affection. The matter speedily became serious. Through the medium of an interpreter, the Turk entered into conversation with the captain, and inquired the sum for which he would be willing to sell the lady; he had nine wives already, he said; but could he possess this new beanty, she would be the Queen and "Light of his Harem." The captain, for the sake of a joke, replied that her price was 19,000 piastres (about £500). The Turk grumbled at the enormons demand; it was just double, he said, what he paid for the most handsome Circussium, Georgian, or Mingrelian, ever brought to the Alexandrine market. The captain, however, stuck to his price; and so the parties separated. But, on the following morning, when the captain was escorting the lady to the residence of her relations, the Turk again made his appearance, and, throwing another fig necklace around the lady's neck, intinuated that he was prepared to give the requisitesum! Here was at dilemma. But the captain soon cleared himself. "Foh!" said he, "you're too late! I sold her yesterday for a thousand piasters more; so you've least her." The fourth day's races over the Metarle course was finely contested. The second hent is, with one exception, the best ever made. The Cres A few me cent of Wednesday gives this description of the race:

First Heat.—The animals, when stripped, looked almost "sweet enough to ent;" all being in tip-top condition. A good start was made, all four going off nearly in a bunch. The spread out showed Fanny in the lead, with Jeff second, Godiya third, and Variete last. They strung it in this position all through the mile, satisfy rather close at the half mile, and reaking a short chain of four links in the last turn. As Fanny kept the lead all through the other two miles, winning the heat, we need only describe the passage at arms between her followers. In the first quarter of the second mile, Varieté took the third place from Godiya, but did not have her to speak of; all three kept close up to Fanny down the tack stretch, and came near banching at the half mile; and after that, whilst Jeff kept bravely after his fair leader, Varieté and frodiya kept side by side for some distance, as cose to Jeff as he was to Fanny. Comling home, Godiya left Veriété and got by the side of Jeff. These two chased Fanny hotly home and into the hird mile, Varieté bringing up the rear. Going to the quarter pole, Variete got upagain with Jeff and Godiya, and whilst Fauny piloted as naual, these three passed the pole in a banch. This hunch opened in the back stretch, showing Variéte in the second place, Godiya third, and Jeff last. The string stretched out wide; in the last turn Fanny as tually ran away from her followers, and won the heat, the casiest in the world, in the not very astonishing time of $431%.

A second attempt was afterward made by Dunlap to get jessession of the woman, but the Irate husband did np a little shooting in the dark, without hurting any ony, and the affair was considered closed. Some days after that Dunlap disappeared, and it was supposed that he eloped in his own "single blessedness." Divisions in the Black Republican Party. There are those, who, looking only to divisions existing in the Democratic party on the estion, and anticipating from this cause the most disa trous results, look forward almost certain triumph of the nominee of the Chicago Convention this fall. We be lieve this opinion, being based upon a superficial and imperfect view of the state of parties, is incorrect. It cannot be denied that there is a rious difference of opinion among Democrats lu regard to a very important subject, nor can concealed that this fact threatens the party with the greatest evils; yet we see nothing now disconrage those devoted to its principles and attached to the Union, at least as far as the nevt Presidency is concerned. The Democratic party is divided in sentiment on the slavery question, but it is a nult, or almost such, npon all other subjects of icgislati in. On all subjects the Democracy of the solding States present a united front, and will act as a single man. For any one recogzed as a Democrat, who may be nominated as Charleston, the votes of these States will be cast en masse. In the non-slaveholding States there are very many who look upon slavery as the handmaid of civilization, or regard it as a fixed political necessity. The mass of the Democratic party there, while regretting, perhaps, the existence of slavery in this country, onsider it an institution over which, existing as it did at the formation of the Union and the adoption of the Federal Constitution, and recognized in the compact our Fathers made, they have no control outside of their respective States and with which they have nothing to do further than to guard and protect the owners of slave property in the rights guaranteed to them in the ion. A few, among them some men of tact, ability, and influence, catering to the false athropy of their section, and yielding to the force of a local prejudice, have given up their own convictions, and are willing to sacrifice the rights of the Southern States, in order to reach position or maintain themselves in place and power. From the last alone we have anything to fear; and threatening as the defection now seems, we really apprehend less loss and less trouble than to a superficial observer seems nevitable. The mass of the people are hones and patriotic, and when the leaders who now appear to control a large public sentiment, consummate their purpose in an open desertion to the common enemy, they will be followed by but few of the unaspiring rank and file, the great body of whom will remain loyal to the tradi-

The Black Republican party is also reut and differences, watch, we cannot lint believe, are less reconcilable than those existing in the Democratic party. It is a party, as such, of a single idea, founded noon a single issue, and existing only in virtue of its opposition to African slavery; yet there are other questions which thrust themselves into the legislation of the country, and demand the attention of statesmen and politicians-questions upon which th leaders of the Black Republican party differ widely, and npon which they never can agreequestions unlike that of slavery, inasmuch as they are practical, and must be dealt with in a atter-of-fact manner, as the material interests they represent are too potent and importunate to allow them to be ignored or pretermitted. If they were united on the slavery question, the position that they occupy in regard to it is insufficient for a party creed, and can only serve as a pretext for the existence of an organization, whose real object is the "spoils." Nobody wants to force any man, woman, or child, in any State in the Union. o have or hold a negro slave. There is not, and has never been, an attempt or a disposition to force slave property upon any one, or to thrust the institution apon any community, which, pos-sessing socceeding power, has prohibited it. No slaveholder, no citizen of a slaveholding State, no friend of the institution of slavery, has less ambiguous language. In that letter, he ever asked, or sought to obtain, from save Congress, from any department of the Federal rument, from any power or by any means, any special privilege, anything more than equalin the Union, anything not guaranteed in the Constitution of the country. In warring against the South and slaveholders, the Black Republican party is aggressive, it is seeking to violate the Constitution, it is attempting to injure the bitants of nearly half the States in the Union, looks to the benefit of no class, to the advantage of no section. Founded upon an nureasonable prejudice, it can have but one mopower, but one bond of unlon-the desire of its leaders to obtain political power; and thus hold together, when they disagree about other things affecting differently and directly the local interests of those among whom they live, and upon whom they must rely for political ble, dissensions and strifes must ensue, and the ba cless fabric" they have creeted must fall to the ground. As an opposition party, it might exis fatal to their hopes. Of this nature, is the subject of the tariff. This is emphatically a practical question, and the manufacturing interests of the country will be satisfied with no equivocal position on it. New England and Pennsylvania, particularly, are elamorous for a protective tariff; and if Black Reablicanism will not, should they get power, give them such a one as they want, they will have none of it. The negro question is all well enough, while the party is in a minority; but the abolition of negro slavery, if it were practicable, would put no money in the pocket of the manufacturers of Massachusetts, or of the iron men of Pennsylvania, and they will have legislation for their benefit as the price of their support. The majority of the party is unquestionably in favor of a high tariff; and as there is no probability of getting such a bill through the Senate this session, its representatives in Congress will vote with considerable unanimity or one that will satisfy the protectionists, In o der to make sure of their support this fall. But the hostility of leading Black Republicans to what is termed the "policy of the defunct Whig party" is intense and irreconcilable; and an attempt corporate this policy into the creed of the Northern Oppositiou, will produce serious tronble among them. The New York Post, a very largely circulated and really influential paper in the East, and the Cincinnati Commercial, the leading and most able of the journals in the West in the interest of Black Republicanism, may be considered the representatives of the anti-tariff sentiment of their party. A paragraph from each of these papers will indicate the nature of this feeling. And first from the Post:

tions for a long time; but the prospect of obtain-

of this feeling. And first from the Post:

To come in at this late day and tell ns that we are pledged to the policy of the defunct Whig party on the question of a tariff, is, at least, wholly unjust to those honest and patriotic Democrats who have responded to this broad call, and have left a long-cherished party, in the midst of its triumphs, for the aske of resisting the encroachments of slavery.

The American people have evinced their settled determination that, whatever changes may hereafter be made in the tariff shall be in the direction of free trade, and not its opposite. Any political organization or accidental combination in Congress, which shall foolhardily contravene this determination, may rely upon it that their work will never endure longer than until the next following Presidential election shall afford the body of the people an opportunity to give legal efficiency to their will. Resolved, That we feel it to be the duty of all who recognize and sustain Democratic principles, to unite in one patriotic expression of rebuke to the action of the John Covode Committee in its endeavor to promote partisan interests regardless of the national honor, and to sustain the President in his tegitimale and constitutional defense of the high trust committeed to his keeping by the people.

Resolved, That the President has well said, that "to make the necuser the judge is a violation of the principles of universal justice, and is condemned by the practice of all civilized nations."

Resolved, That whilst we lavor, and as a party have ever arged the strictest economy, in all the departments of our State and Federal Government, and the follest and honesty of all public officers, our intelligence will not permit us to be deceived by "Fast Room and gold spoon" reports, on the eve of a Presidential election.

Speaking of this I II, the Commercial says:

However necessary the first of these measures may be, and however important the second may be held, there is no propriety in their incorporation into one bill. They are for wholly distinct objects. The one is simply to raise by borrowing, aufficient ready money to carry on the Government; the other is no less than a fundamental change in our entire tariff system. The very fact that these totally distinct measures have been tasked together by the Committee of Ways and M ans, is semilicant evidence of something wrong. They fear to let the tariff revision stand upon its own merits before Congress and the country. They have contrived a nice little sheme for saddling a necessary loan with an unpulatable piece of class legislation. It is declared in many quarter that the loan cannot pass without the tariff. Pennsylvania, New England, and some scattered members from other sections of the constry, have made up their unlinds to a dead set for a protective tariff at the protes some of Congres. We have a national debt which must be paid, and the Pennsylvania politicians have "ilxed things" to take advantage of this fact to enrich themselves and make political capital. States."
The right here recognized is that of the people of a Territory to form a Constitution with or without domestic statery. It recognizes no act to be done touching slavery, by the people or the Legislature of a Territory before the forming of a Constitution, but declares that often they have adopted a Constitution with or without slavery, then they are cutilled to be admitted into the Union. Having become interested in the Saddlery, larness and Trank business, with Mr. C. broal, No. in Third street, between Main and Market, I would be pleased to have my friends and former patrons to adopted a Constitution with or without shavery, then they are entitled to be admitted into the Union.

This was and is the Democratic doctrine against the "free soil" dogma of "no more slave States," and this is the precise principle which was haid down by Mr. Calhonn in the resolution in the Senate of 1847, viz:

"That as a fundamental principle in our political creed, a people in forming a Constitution, have the uncouditional right to form and adopt the government which they may think best—and that no other condition is imposed by the Federal Constitution on a State, in order to be adoutted into this Union, except that its Constitution shall be Republican; and the imposition of any other by Congress would not only be in violation of the Constitution, but a direct conflict with the principles on which our political system rests." ve us a call. They shall find us ever ready and filling, with an excellent stock of goods, to picase nem. I hope by strict attention to business to re-cive and merit the patronage of my former enstom rs, and also to add many new ones. With this exposition, and with no disposition to question the motives or purposes of the author of "Southern Confederation," I am content to leave the publicly expressed opinions of Mr. Hallettfor twenty years, upon the "slavery issue," to the judgment of the whole brotherhood of Southern and Northern Democrats, who mean to maintain "the equal rights of all the States in all the Territories," and uphold the Constitution and the Union. He has nothing to ask of them but their good opinion.

Live Fences.

ation of our remarks of last week ni on the subject of live fences, we have to say, that there are but Iwo ways of preparing the ground for an Osage Orange hedge, that are at all to be tolerated. The first and hest is to throw up and thoroughly pulverize the ground with good strong spades-working it two spades deep, and slightly rounding up the hedge line from the sides to the center. The other is to trench plow the land, and pulverize it with a suitable harrow. This, while it is the cheapest by far, ls much the most expeditious, and will answer very well. By elther method, the root-bed which constitutes the line of the hedge should be made not less than six feet wide.

There are two good ways of inserting the plants after they have been prepared as directed in our last issue. The first and must commonly ad ed is to insert them with a diblde, which is made best by sawing off the handle of a broken of worn out spade, about fifteen to eighteen luches long, leaving the upper part andistarbed for the hand to grasp, as usual in using a spade, and sharp ning the lowerend. With this instrument holes are made in the mullow earth easily and rayidly, the distance apart previously determined upou, and the routs inserted in these holes down to the collar, when the earth is pressed about them. A better way, however, and quite as ex peditious, to insert a clean spade, press the earth slightly apart, then withdraw the spade and Immediately insert the plant, again inserting the spade two or three luches from the place of the first insertion, and pressing the earth gently up to the roots. But we prefer a third method as better than either of the two named, though not so expeditious. This is to dig a trench, by line, after the ground has been properly prepared, with one side slightly inclining outward and terninating at the surface of the ground in a true ed ce. In this trench, inclined agalust the edge or shoulder, one hand can lay the plants with great rapidity, properly adjusting the roots as with the mellow earth, while still a third passes after him, rounding up the surface as he does so, and seeing that each plant has from half an inch an inch of its upper part (collar) left exposed. After the plants have been started and grown a year or two, there are several ways of building he live tences that is expected to be at the same ime ornamental and useful. One is to cut down nearly even with the ground in March or April, and let all the branches grow that start. Then, the succeeding spring, elip atf the tops of the plants between two and three feet from the ground, and persult them to thicken out at that point. And the following spring, again clip the tops about four and a half to live feet from the ground, and thus coax out another thickening of the branches. After this, for a year or tw mere, the tops are either ent semi-occasionally you have the "live fence" that Is talked about, This is the common method of forming an Osago hedge, and it results in just that ungainly and uscless line of ragged hoop-poles to be seen frequently near this city, surmounted by a bristling top, far enough apart at the base, and free enough ten or I wenty feet. Another method is, after a single trimming the Spring following the planting, to stimulate a vigorous growth of upright shoots—the larger the better-without reference to thickening out with lateral branches. Where these upright shoots do not grow sufficiently large the season after the first clipping, they are permitted to stand undisturbed another year. In the Fall, Winter, or early Spring of this year, they are Iwelve inches, somewhat after the manner of open wicker basket work. The thorns easily keep the shoots in place, and the fence thickens one or two years and becomes quite comtmet and strong. When well done, and well atended to afterwards, this makes a good hedge, het is a live fence." We have se mental, and could be permitted to stand without a plank fence to protect them. But in general TVIITS MACHINE is now made in a substantial and do.

they are defective, for the want of a base substantial enough to forbid the inroads of live stock. A third method is, to produce long and strong upright shouts such as we have described, and bend them all down in one direction, firmly binding one by the next, and so adjusting them y the thorns as that the whole shall be held firm. This intertwhiting is made from six to twelve luches alone the ground; the stronger shoots are made to strengthen the weaker ones, and thus close up open or futile places; a thick growth of laterals is produced the next season, among which are long and vigorous noright shoots enough to form material for another bending down and intertwining, which may be made from tifeen to twenty inches above the previous one. At this second bending down, starts out, the succeeding season, another thick growth of laterals, which may be still more tidekened by side and top elippings. This cannot be called a very handsome fence, but we have seen a number of hedges formed in this way that were strong, and some years ago formed one that neither horse nor cow could be forced to attack. It did not remain exempt from pig holes, however; nor do we suppose that any hedge formed in this way will for any considerable number of years, Each of the styles of hedge spoken of above, is commonly clipped into straight or perpendicular sides, with a nearly flat or somewhat roundlng top or roof-the thickness being about two however, that were really worthy to be called such-and both useful and ornamental-were formed with a base about five feet diameter, and rimmed at the top at an angle which made the hight about equal to the base. This form is best for the adsalssion of sun and air-but for the continued breadth of the plants, which thicken from and near the ground better than by any other method—and best, of course, for purposes of protection. Fewer plants die out and thin Of the best quality and at the lowest prices. For ande by CHITENDEN & GANTT, my2 dif west side of Third st., bet. On 146s more than upon my other circumstance, depends the ultimate profits of the sheep-breeder, whether his object be the other circumstate, apends he althoate profils of the sheep-breeder, whether his object be the production of wool or multon.

In their wild state, the different races of sheep are found in localities peculiarly adapted in the requirements of their natures. In Great Britain, we find the light-quartered, long-legged, restless Wilds sheep, gambeling upon the mountains and picking the meultivated herbage peculiar to them; the Doom sheep upon the slopes of the chalky hills from Norfolk to Dorchester—known as the South bown hills—which afford adequate sustenance to these medium-sired, hardy sheep, the henvy and clumsy Long-wooled varieties, consuming the La pastures of the plains and valleys; while the Cheriot and Black-ford sheep, with constitutions of iron, delight in the heather of the North mountains and highlands of old Scotland, where the Southern breeds would die of cold and starvation. Our Morino sheep came originally from the rich pastures on the Spanish and Italian mountains, and the green, grassy plains of Estremadura, where the mercury, according to Mr. Jarvis, seldom falls below forty degrees, and the sheep are sustained the whole year upon grass.

Whoever contemplates going into sheep-husbandry, should look to the quantity and quality of herbage which his farm is capable of producing, before determining what breed he will select. It his land gives but seamy herbage, the long-wooled varieties will not prosper. No known circumstance exerts so speedy and positive an influence upon both fleece and carcass as the food. Every attentive sheep-breeder will contribute this. Mr. Yount maintains that pasture has a far greater influence than cilinate on the fluences of the fleece. When the animal has a auperabundance of untriment, the snaple of the wool, like every other part of the sheep, must increme in bulk and length; and when sufficient nourishment is not afforded, the wool-seretion-must diminish as certainly as that the animal will grow lean.

Condition is another highly portant means of success in sheep-linebandry, uniform temperature, or ellimate, which good explaras enables the breeder to approximate-maintain; uniform food, furnished by succentroots and well cured hay, in winter, with a cular supply of soft water, will keep the flock uniform health and condition; will produce a lifering growth of keee, and a uniform increase the breeder will be blessed with a uniformly hard of profit. It is only by attention to see specific conditions, that the linest wood is succeed, and the flock is kept in leadthful vigor 1 productiveness.—Charles 1kets, in Ohio case.

The committee required him to produce a list of the subscribers, which he declined, on the ground that he could not do so, even were he crtain he had the paper, without the authority of the persons whose names would mpdear; that would involve a breach of Implied confidence; ind, besi los, no power was given to the committee to ask for the introduction of a paper cutirely rivate in its character.

The committee differed from Mr. Schell, and sisted on the production of the paper as matellated to the investigation and accordination.

In regard to Provisiona at Cincinnati, we take the following from the Gazette of to-day:

The general dullnoss in the Produce markets yesterday continued to day, and a freaty feeling was exhibited in almost every department of trade. The offerings of Provisions were small, but sellers lowered their views to 73,60%, for Bacon Shouler and Sides, without leading to any business of consequence. Mess Fork was to be had at $176,70 for for country and city. Bulk Ments were dullut (% 30%) for Shoulders and ordinary Sides.

There was a rale of 50,000 fbs heavy sides at 33 45, 250 fcs Lard brough 104/c. Whisky was 11 in demand at 185, Wheat is in good demand at $1.500 for prime red, and $1.300 for prime red, and $1.000 f The committee differed from Mr. Schell, and insisted on the production of the paper as material to the investigation, and accordingly proposed a resolution that the Speaker issue a warrant directed to the Sergeant-at-Arnis, to take Mr. Schell into custody and bring him before the barto maswer for contempt in refusing to produce a certain paper when requested to do so by the committee.

tain paper when requested to do so by the committee.

Mr. Winslow will submit a minority report, and the subject will be considered on Mouday. Mr. Colfar asked unanimous consent to report a bill from the Postoffice Committee making an appropriation for supplying the Pike's Peak region immediately with mails, and stated that if the appropriation was delayed until the general appropriation bill passed at the close of the session, they would not probably have any mail service there till autuun.

Mr. Wells, holding to slips in his hand, began to speak.

Mr. Burnett raised a question of order—for a gentleman to read a speech was not in order.

The Chairman, Mr. Pettlt, overruled, saying the point was governed by uniform precedent.

Mr. Wells bowed, and prayed for the wisdom and energy which would enable him to advocate the cause of man before this august tribunal of the people; and while arguing against slavery said the cornerstone of our Government is the equality of all men. The revival of the African slave trade is necessary to the continuance of slavery, as Southern Abolitionists are working the extinction of the latter by practical annalgamation. Three powers are engaged in the effort-to extend slavery—the President, the Democratic party, and the Supreme Court. The impending crisis is upon us, but the people are aroused to take a stand with the lovers of freedom against the advance of despotism, and to prevent conscience, right, and humanity from being trodden under foot.
